				vat). If this is a new and genuine grant, it indicates some political disturbances regarding the succession of Valabhī throne after Dharasena II. Perhaps Kharagraha I was dethroned by his brother (Śīlāditya I) and again came to throne only after him. The conjecture is supported by the inscriptions of Śīlāditya I. In his early grants the dūtaka (heir-apparent) is Bhaṭṭādityayaśasa. Kharagraha (I) comes as dūtaka in his records only in G.-Val. Sam. 290 and thereafter.
